PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Daniel R. Clang, DO

"Greetings again from CSOM. It has been a very busy year since I took office last August and this next month looks to be no different. Your representatives from CSOM and I are again getting ready to attend the annual AOA House of Delegates meeting in Chicago, Illinois. Although our contingency is small compared to other states (only 6 representatives), we have been able to influence the larger picture considerably through our involvement with UFOS (United Federation of Osteopathic Societies). This federation, which includes over 30 state societies, has played a significant role in making sure the needs of smaller states, like ours, are addressed nationally. In fact, Dr. Karen Nichols, our current AOA president came from the ranks of the UFOS. You can expect to hear more about the House of Delegates meeting at our upcoming Summer CME meeting in Breckenridge.

More locally things have been busy as well. All CSOM members should have received the proposed changes to our constitution and bylaws by now. These recommendations have not been made lightly. Rather, they have been under consideration in some form for almost 2 years. The most significant items include changing the makeup of the board itself, as well as the elimination of COEC as a committee of CSOM. I have strong feelings, of course, that these changes are in the best interest of the society and our long-term goals in the state of Colorado. Many things have changed in healthcare over the last few years and we need to change and evolve with them if we are to thrive as a medical society. Our focus is driven by the desire to make our society more valuable direct service, quality CME, and representation. These needed changes, in my opinion, will help us do exactly this. Please plan to attend this important annual meeting and support your CSOM board.

I am also excited about our upcoming Summer CME in Breckenridge. We have an excellent program again this year. There are a variety of subjects including men's health, women's health, neurology, ENT, Gastroenterology, Pediatrics, and much more. Representatives from COPIC will also be present sponsoring a luncheon and offering 1 ERS point for those members who need it. We also have our 8th annual golf tournament, the annual ACOFP State Society luncheon, many fun activities for the whole family, and, of course, the inauguration of our next CSOM president, Dr. William Mandell! I am looking forward to handing the gavel to this very capable leader.

Finally, I would like to thank Mr. Terry Boucher and the CSOM staff for all their help this last year. Terry, Rachel, and now Deidre, have done an excellent job providing assistance, direction, and support during my tenure. We are fortunate to have such an excellent executive director and talented staff supporting our organization, and I wanted to communicate my personal appreciation of their efforts to our society. Thank you, and see you in Breckenridge!"

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S REPORT

Terry Boucher, MPH

A Great Pioneer

The osteopathic profession recently lost one of its Great Pioneers. Marcelino Oliva, Jr., DO, FACOFP dist. of Dade City, Florida, a leading osteopathic family medicine practitioner and lifelong spokesman for the profession, died July 8, 2011 after a year-long battle with multiple myeloma cancer. He was 75 years of age.

Dr. Oliva was an inspiration to many of us. From his early years as an emigrant from Cuba to his many years as a distinguished osteopathic family medicine physician to his decades of service speaking up in the halls of Congress as our most powerful and articulate voice, Dr. Oliva was an outstanding leader for our profession.

ACOFP Service

A member of ACOFP since 1967, Dr. Oliva served as chair of the Federal Legislation Committee and the Advisory Committee on Federal Legislation. He also served multiple terms as a delegate from Florida to the ACOFP Congress of Delegates. He became a Fellow in 1982 and received his Distinguished Fellow designation in 2009. He continued to serve ACOFP as its Chair of the Committee on Federal Legislation until shortly before his death.

In 2007, ACOFP presented Dr. Oliva with its highest award – Osteopathic Family Physician of the Year and recognized his distinguished career with the 2010 Lifetime Achievement Award

National Leadership Role

For the osteopathic profession at large, Dr. Oliva served as the 1988-89 AOA President – the first minority to hold that post, and more than two decades after holding that highest office, he continued to advocate for the profession as Chair of the AOA Bureau of Federal Health Programs and chair of the AOA Department of Governmental Affairs, the Bureau of Public Education on Health and the Committee on Health Related Policies.

Beyond all this, Dr. Oliva was instrumental in getting osteopathic medicine the respect it deserves on Capitol Hill through OPAC – the Osteopathic Political Action Committee that today stands as one of the largest medical PACs on the Hill.

A Lifetime of Service

Dr. Oliva's "lifetime" story begins in Cuba, from which he emigrated as a young boy prior to the establishment of the Castro regime. He was mentored into the osteopathic profession by Wardell Stanfield, DO of Dade City, Florida. He established his first family practice in Bay City, Florida in 1965 and continued to care for patients throughout his life in that community.

Dr. Oliva received his DO degree in 1964 from the University of Health Science, College of Osteopathic Medicine (formerly known as Kansas City College of Osteopathic Medicine). The College named him Alumnus of the Year in 1983. He completed his internship at Oklahoma Osteopathic Hospital in 1965. After he completed his training, Dr. Oliva returned to Dade City where he practiced for more than 35 years.

His political prowess was evident early in his career, when he was instrumental in earning admitting privileges for osteopathic physicians at the hospital in Pasco County – this after the lack of admitting privileges caused him to allow patients to sleep overnight in the clinic behind the building where he lived.

At the state level and local levels Dr. Oliva contributed countless volunteer hours to the Florida ACOFP Society and the Florida Osteopathic Medical Association (FOMA), as his expertise on insurance and reimbursement issues was sought by many state advisory boards. He served as president, trustee and officer of the Florida Osteopathic Medical Association (FOMA) and as chair of FOMA's Political Action Committee. He received FOMA's Distinguished Service Award in 1978.

As past Chief of staff of the East Pasco Medical Center in Dade City, Dr. Oliva also served as a member of the Executive Committee of Humana Pasco Hospital. He also served as a medical consultant for the athletic Department and Student Health Center of St. Leo (Florida) College., and also held an appointment as trustee of the Southeastern College of Osteopathic Medicine in North Miami Beach Florida.

The American Osteopathic Association's House of Delegates will seem strangely quiet this year as Dr. Oliva won't be there to ask the recorder of minutes to go "off record" as he would challenge the delegates to make donations to OPAC. Anything of less than a 100% donation rate by your state would cause a visit from Dr. Oliva. He had a way of lovingly convincing you to make that donation. He loved this profession and gave back to it all his life.

Dr. Oliva is survived by his wife Lora Lee and daughters Lori, Marcie and Teresa.

OSTEOPATHIC PLEDGE OF COMMITMENT

As members of the osteopathic medical profession, in an effort to instill loyalty and strengthen the profession, we recall the tenets on which this profession is founded – the dynamic interaction of mind, body and spirit; the body's ability to heal itself; the primary role of the musculoskeletal system; and preventive medicine as the key to maintain health. We recognize the work our predecessors have accomplished in building the profession, and we commit ourselves to continuing that work.

I pledge to:

- ⇒ Provide compassionate, quality care to my patients;
- ⇒ Partner with them to promote health;
- ⇒ Display integrity and professionalism throughout my career;
- ⇒ Advance the philosophy, practice and science of osteopathic medicine; Continue life-long learning; Support my profession with loyalty in action, word and deed; and live each day as an example of what an osteopathic physician should be.

A special thanks to CSOM members Jill Pitcher, DO, Jennifer Hepp, DO, Joseph Stasio, DO, David Kanze, DO, Dmitriy Pales, DO and Christopher Unrein, DO for helping me and the other student volunteers at the 9 News Health Fair event at Rocky Vista University this spring. We served over 360 patients, many of whom don't have medical insurance and would have otherwise gone without these valuable screenings. Our site offered the traditional blood tests, but also screenings for blood pressure, diabetes, metabolic, nutrition, sleep apnea, memory, stress management, vision, spine, skin, prostate and testicular, breast, and female pap screening. Thanks to all of you for putting your heart and soul into making this a successful event. It is because of you that RVU and it's students will have an outstanding reputation with the public for years to come!

If you have other ideas for promoting the Osteopathic profession please consider becoming part of the Public Awareness committee.

Kelli Glaser D.O.- Committee Chair

In June I went on a medical mission with two RVU faculty members and 9 first year students to Copan Ruinas, Honduras. This was my 5th medical mission experience in Central America and each time I leave with a renewed spirit and pride for the profession of Osteopathic Medicine. We treat many basic problems and the most common complaint is musculoskeletal pain. It has been a real joy to see how the local people respond to OMT as they generally have not experienced this before. If you are interested in participating in international medical missions, DOCARE International has several trips a year to various places around the world. They are currently looking for volunteers to go to Peru in August, and Haiti in September. Visit their website at:

BOARD OF GOVERNORS OF THE AMERICAN ACADEMY OF OSTEOPATHY

Brian F. Degenhardt, DO, was re-elected to a three-year term on the Board of Governors at the annual membership meeting of the American Academy of Osteopathy (AAO) in Colorado Springs, CO, March 16.

Dr. Degenhardt graduated from Des Moines University College of Osteopathic Medicine in 1989. He is the assistant Vice President for Osteopathic Research and Director of the A.T. Still Research Institute at A.T. Still University Kirksville College of Osteopathic Medicine. Board certified in Neuromusculoskeletal Medicine and Family Practice, Dr. Degenhardt also has a Certificate of Competency from the Cranial Academy. He is in private practice at Rocky Mountain Integrative Medicine in Ridgway, CO. He has participated in a broad range of research investigating the role of Osteopathic Manipulative Treatment in conditions such as otitis media, infant feeding disorders, chronic obstructive pulmonary disease, pneumonia and osteoarthritis. Dr. Degenhardt's work has been presented and published widely.

DROMS REPORT

Please note: Due to changes in Pharma Guidelines, DROMS meetings sponsored by pharmaceutical companies will no longer offer CME credit. DROMS dinners are meetings of District 1, accompanied by a lecture. Any meeting sponsored by a non-pharm company is open to members and a guest that does not have to be a healthcare professional.

The DROMS 2011 Series is almost completely booked for the year and we are looking forward to a diverse set of presentations. We started in January with a Pfizer presentation held at Shanahan's in the DTC titled "Managing Dyslipidemia in the Patient with Type 2 Diabetes" given by Eric Albright, MD.

July 14th is the next DROMS meeting sponsored by Sanofi-Aventis. The lecture will focus on Diabetes Treatment and will be held at the Denver Chop House & Brewery at 1735 19th Street in Denver.

The September DROMS meeting will be sponsored by Auxilium Pharmacy and the November meeting will be sponsored by Teva Respiratory. Lecture topics are to be determined.

RVU STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

Brett Voigt, OMS-II

Once again, Rocky Vista held their annual spring elections and I would like to congratulate all of the students who have been elected to represent their respective organizations. Additionally, congratulations are in order for Tyler Anstett, OMS-III for his achievement of RVU Student DO of the Year. In other news, the curriculum meetings between the students and the faculty have been progressive and we hope that the class of 2015 will enjoy the revisions. Finally, RVU will be sending Derrick Morford and myself as delegates to the AOA H.O.D as well as COSGP this summer.

CSOM COMMITTEE ACTIVITY

OMM LAB

Early in the development of COEC's educational program, Dr. Chris LaFontano began instructing OMM Lab, a required didactic course for all 3rd year students. Our students, past and present, have consistently confirmed that the additional attention to OMM skills was invaluable on rotations. Students can, and do, utilize OMM techniques if they are able to incorporate them early in their patient experiences. Dr. LaFontano continues to be one of our preceptors in "high demand" because of his natural inclination toward teaching body mechanics. The final session of OMM Lab this year was an in-depth Board Review that Dr. LaFontano conducted for all students.

Chris LaFontano, DO, longtime COEC OMM Lab Instructor, with Tiffany Cook, OMSIII, KCUMB; Ben Westcott, OMSIII, KCUMB and Lisa Atack, OMSIII, TOURO.

Michelle Gendron, KCOM and Brett London, TOURO congratulate each other on a job well done!

GRADUATION

"With this year's graduation dinner, COEC will have provided clinical training for 157 medical students since 1999", as was explained to guests and graduates by Marie Kowalsky, COEC Executive Director. COEC's annual Graduation Dinner was held on April 11 at C. B. & Potts in Greenwood Village. Marie congratulated and handed out the traditional desk nameplates to happy and honored 4th year students who were able to attend. Among the preceptors who applauded their accomplishments were Doru Georgescu, MD and his student coordinator, Lori Gray; Sam Schimelpfenig, MD; Jacqueline Woodrum, DO; Larry Varner, DO and Leonard Zemel, MD.
